

Emily Lee is a professional oboe player and instructor with 25 years of experience. Originally from South Korea, Ms. Lee attended Sungshin Women's University in Seoul, South Korea, where she received her Bachelor of Music and Master of Music Education. During her time at university, Ms. Lee performed in various orchestras, including international ensemble performances in Japan and the US.

After coming to the US, Ms. Lee earned additional master's degrees in Orchestral Instrument Performance (Oboe) and Music Education from Georgia State University. Since then, she has performed in a wide variety of orchestras in the Metro Atlanta area. In addition to coaching students in private lessons, Ms. Lee also teaches as a band sectional instructor for oboe in north Fulton schools.

Ms. Lee's students have been selected for All-National Honor Ensembles, Governor's Honors Program, All-State Band, Atlanta Symphony Youth Orchestra, and Emory Youth Symphony Orchestra.

For private lesson information, email eoboemaster@gmail.com.