

Headshot, Bio, and Contact information for Lessons:

Bio:

Horn player Andrew Sehmann is a musician and college professor based in Athens, GA.

Currently, he teaches Horn, aural skills, music tech and music appreciation at Young Harris College and Georgia College and State University. Current and former students have placed first chair in the Georgia Allstate Symphonic Band, been accepted to and attended GHP, and attended NYO-USA at Carnegie Hall. Former college students have gone on to masters programs and been awarded assistantships.

Andrew plays with multiple orchestras in the Southeast. He is third horn in the Augusta Symphony, and second horn with the South Carolina Philharmonic. He has played under multiple conductors such as Keith Lockhart, Jeff Tyzik, Melisse Brunet, Dirk Meyer, Joann Faletta, Garrett Keast, Courtney Lewis, John Morris Russell, and Morihiko Nakahara.

His previous teachers have included: Marie-Luise Neunecker, Johannes Hinterholzer, Jean Martin-Williams, Mick Sehmann, Richard Deane, James Naigus, and Hazel Dean Davis. He lives with his wife Ashley, a private piano teacher in Athens with their rescue dog, Stella.

Contact information: andrewsehmann.com for studio policy

Email: sehmann.andrew@gmail.com

Phone: 859-779-5676